Creating an efficient, one-stop-shop service with Noel Leeming

To support this large development, Marra Construction’s project manager, Aidan Marra, was looking for a partner who could detail costs upfront and had the capacity to deliver everything to a tight deadline. His previous experience working with Noel Leeming Commercial meant he recognised the reliability and choice available and that we were the best fit for this project.

Nine Oaks Development was a comprehensive project which needed a range of kitchen appliances - whiteware and waste disposals. Due to the size of the job Marra were looking for a competitive price for the volume, choices of brands and models to provide the value they needed, as well as a supplier who could meet delivery deadlines. Noel Leeming is proud of its range of products, and the high level of dedication to providing an end to end service - from dealing with our clients, to delivering the products on time.

The team provided over 190 items all of which were delivered directly to site. The dedicated project manager ensured that the products arrived on time and packaging rubbish was removed from the site and recycled.
